DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed on 3/14/08 has been entered and the remarks therein have been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

 The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

 Claims 1, 2, 8, 11, 12 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by German Patent Application DE 101 58 266 A1, hereinafter Bosch '266.

Bosch '266 discloses a hand held tool comprising a first unit 2, a second unit 3, a vibration isolating device 5, 11 between the units and having an actuator 5 for producing an actuating force in a working direction which can be actuated via a pneumatic drive, which is deemed to inherently constitute a handle air spring (note: Fig. 2), the tool further comprising a spring device 4 which is parallel to the actuator, a sensor 14, 15 for determining the spacing of the units, wherein the tool is presumed to function without the spring device "bottoming out", as per claim 11, and to cyclically function, as per claim 12 due to the sensor 14, 15 and associated controller 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

- The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
- Claims 1, 2, 8, 10-13, 15 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over German Patent Application DE 101 58 266 A1, hereinafter Bosch

In the event that Bosch '266 is interpreted not to include the actuator having an air spring as claimed, applicant is given Official Notice that to dampen vibrations in tool handles via air springs is well known, as well as providing damping devices with air springs that are pneumatically adjustable. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to form the actuator of Bosch '266 as claimed in order to allow for dynamic damping during use. Regarding claims 10, 13, and 15, Bosch '266 is silent as the functional parameters. In any event, it would have been obvious to one skilled to allow for the specifically claimed operating parameters since to do so provides no new and unexpected results and is within the engineering purview of the skilled artisan.

Response to Arguments

 Applicant's arguments filed on 3/14/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Bosch fails to disclose the invention as claimed Application/Control Number: 10/595,046 including a handle air spring which is part of an actuator, and being able to be modify the compressed air within the handle air spring. The Examiner disagrees. The actuator 5 is air actuated and controller 7 varies the air volume therein. The actuator inherently dampens handle vibrations due to its orientation, and thus constitutes an air spring. Applicant argues that Bosch teaches away since the actuator 5 is coaxial with the spring 4, and is thus not parallel. It is the Examiner's position that coaxial elements are also parallel. and thus discloses the invention as claimed.

Conclusion

 THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
